

"We the people" here in America believe in Capitalism. Capitalism depends on a free market. A free market is "many sellers" providing goods and services to "many buyers". Where are the "many sellers" in these mergers? These mergers would put the interests of large corporations over the interests of individual consumers. You have a duty to represent the people of America and to block these mergers. In a world of increased competition, consumers could be enjoying unlimited local and long-distance telephone calls, as well as high-speed Internet access, for just $40 -- $15 for community Internet and $25 for unlimited phone calls over the Internet. But today, this costs about $90 more than double the price! The FCC should block these mergers and find new ways to bring down the costs of these services, particularly high-speed Internet which has become essential to modern life and is the gateway to exciting new technologies, like making phone calls on the Internet and streaming in video over the Internet. America is falling behind the rest of the world in broadband deployment. We are now 16th, far behind countries like Japan and Korea, which have opened up the building blocks of broadband phone and cable lines to competitors. This merger would only worsen these problems and therefore must be blocked. They would stifle competition, raise prices, and lead to fewer choices, making the problem worse, not better.
